Art Unit 1713

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. § 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102(b) as being anticipated by Tanaka et al., U.S. Patent 5,516,587.

The Examples in this patent show coating compositions which are based on applicants' instantly claimed binding agent, solvent and high temperature resistant solid lubricant. See specifically column 3 lines 43+.

Claims 3-10, 14 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Tanaka.

Art Unit 1713

The specific particle size limitations as well as percent limitations are seen to be clearly anticipated or rendered prima facie obvious from the disclosure of this patent.

As such, these claims are anticipated or rendered prima facie obvious.

35 U.S.C. § 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefore, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 11-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. These claims are use claims which is a non-statutory category of invention.
